

Non-Western Art History

The Art of Southeast Asia

End

1

The Art of Southeast Asia

Source: nationsonline.org

End

2

The Art of Southeast Asia

✦ Southeast Asian Art

- Influenced by the art of India, especially Buddhist and Hindu art brought by Indian merchants before the 5th century AD.
- Local artists interpreted Hindu and Buddhist themes, creating new forms; sculptures have simpler ornamentation and human forms are solid and often smooth
- Religious architecture is very important and both Hindu and Buddhist temple complexes are large collections of monuments and sculpture
- Ceramics, metalwork and textiles are important trade items with Europe and Asia beginning in the 16th century

End

3

The Art of Southeast Asia

Stem Cup,
 1st millennium BC,
 Earthenware, H: 9.5 inches,
 Unknown Thai Artist,
 Metropolitan Museum of Art

End

4

The Art of Southeast Asia

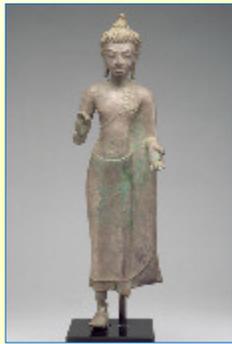

Drum With Four Frogs, 300 BC - 200 AD, Bronze, H: 4 inches,
 Unknown Vietnamese Artist, Metropolitan Museum of Art

End

5

The Art of Southeast Asia

Standing Buddha,
 8th - 9th century AD, Bronze,
 H: 15.5 inches,
 Unknown Thai Artist,
 Metropolitan Museum of Art

End

6

The Art of Southeast Asia

The Walking Buddha,
14th century, H: 11 inches
Unknown Thai Artist,
The British Museum

7 The Art of Southeast Asia End

Aerial View of Borobudur, 7th - 8th century AD, L: 420 feet,
Unknown Java (Buddhist) Artists,
Source: Art Beyond The West by M. K. O'Riley

8 The Art of Southeast Asia End

Aerial View of Borobudur, 7th - 8th century AD, H: 95 feet,
Unknown Java (Buddhist) Artists,
Source: Wikimedia

9 The Art of Southeast Asia End

Views of Borobudur, 7th - 8th century AD,
Along the pilgrimage route,
Unknown Java (Buddhist) Artists,
Source: Top: Budda.net, Right: Wikimedia

10 The Art of Southeast Asia End

View of Borobudur,
7th - 8th century AD,
Along pilgrimage route,
Unknown Java Artists,
Source: Budda.net

11 The Art of Southeast Asia End

Durga As The Slayer of the Buffalo Demon,
7th century AD, Sandstone,
H: 15 inches,
Unknown Cambodian Artist,
The Asia Society

12 The Art of Southeast Asia End

13

The Art of Southeast Asia

Standing Hari Hara, 7th - 8th century AD, H: 35.5 inches, Unknown Cambodian or Vietnamese Artist, Metropolitan Museum of Art

End

14

The Art of Southeast Asia

Standing Hari Hara, 7th - 8th century AD, H: 35.5 inches, Unknown Cambodian or Vietnamese Artist, Metropolitan Museum of Art

End

15

The Art of Southeast Asia

View of Angkor Wat, 9th - 12th century AD, Complex: 71 square miles, Unknown Cambodian (Hindu) Artists, Source: Art Beyond The West by M. K. O'Riley

End

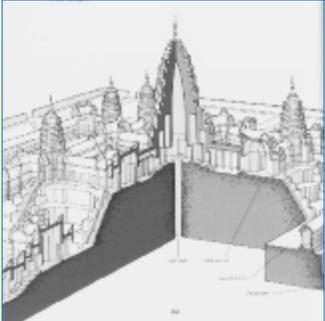

16

The Art of Southeast Asia

Aerial View of Angkor Wat, 9th - 12th century AD, W: 700 feet, Unknown Cambodian (Hindu) Artists, Source: Art Across Time by Laura Adams

End

17

The Art of Southeast Asia

Diagram of Angkor Wat, 9th - 12th century AD, Unknown Cambodian Artists, Source: Seventy Wonders of the World by C. Searre

End

18

The Art of Southeast Asia

Nymph from Angkor Wat, 9th - 12th century AD, Unknown Cambodian (Hindu) Artists, Source: Art Across Time by Laura Adams

End

19

The Art of Southeast Asia

Dish With Designs of Peonies.
15th century, Stoneware,
Diameter: 17.5 inches,
Unknown Vietnamese Artist,
Metropolitan Museum of Art

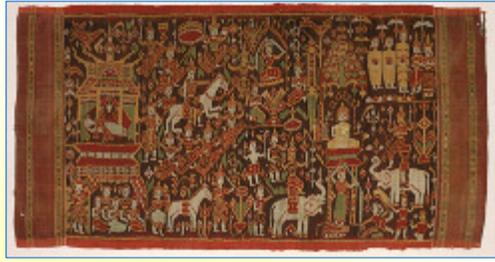

End

20

The Art of Southeast Asia

Temple Hanging (pidan). Late 19th century, L: 63 inches,
Silk Ikat Weaving, Unknown Cambodian (Buddhist) Artists,
Museum of Fine Arts, Boston

End

21

The Art of Southeast Asia

The Raffles Gamelan. 19th century, Size: not given,
Materials: not identified, Unknown Javanese Artists,
The British Museum

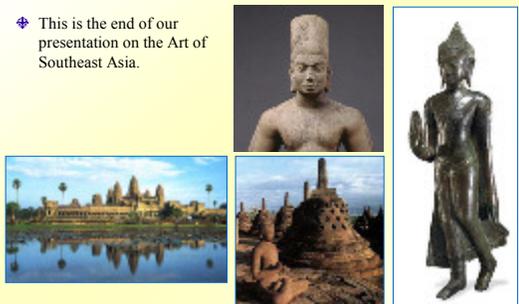

End

22

The Art of Southeast Asia

✦ This is the end of our presentation on the Art of Southeast Asia.

End